

Success is earned everyday, not in a single moment. With these a calm & pleasant morning to every one present here. Our honorable principal Rev. Fr. Wilson and our vice - principal Rev. Fr. Limesh. Respected teachers and all my dear friends. This is me Bhavika Wilson a member of class Xc. I am here to speak on a topic "The power of consistent beats the intensity".

Anyone can be motivated for a day, but staying committed even when motivation disappears is the real challenge. Great achievements are not built in a single day. They are built through small, consistent efforts repeated over time. Intensity may bring quick result, but consistency builds lasting success. Whether it's learning a new skill, playing a sport, or preparing for exams, the people who improve the most are those who practice regularly.

It reminds us that success is not about being perfect. It is about never giving up and continuing to improve every day.

I would like to conclude my speech saying the "Intensity may start the journey but consistency is what takes us to the destination." Thank you and have a consistent day ahead.
